Hearing on Bill Which Gives Authority to Town and City Officials to Designate Where the Work Can Be Done-Extension Down Shetucket Street Would Provide Remedy Here.

(Special to The Bulletin.) Hartford, Feb. 23.—Representative Craney of Norwich appeared before the committee on railroads Thursday afternoon in relation to his bill concerning the loading and unloading of cars used in the express business on street railways, this bill, while applying to all street railways lines in the state, being especially intended to relieve congestion on Franklin square in Norwich.

wich.

Mr. Craney explained that the congestion at this point is objectionable to many residents of the city and mentioned that he had frequently seen several teams unloading and loading express, with the result that a string of other vehicles were held up and traffic greatly impeded. He also made reference to the fact that to help do away with congestion at this point a drinking fountain had been removed and stated his belief that in carrying out the idea of easing the movement of traffic at that point that the handling of trolley express should be done elsewhere.

The text of the bill is as follows:

Section 1. The selectmen of each town, the mayor and common council of each city and the warden and burgesses of each borough, shall, within their respective jurisdictions, have exclusive control in determining the place or places upon the highways, streets or squares at which the cars used by any corporation, person or partnership in conducting an express business on street railways shall be loaded or unloaded, and in determining the length of time any car so used shall be allowed to remain standing on any of such highways, streets or squares for the purpose of being so loaded or unloaded, and said local authorities may make or change any order necessary to carry into effect in their respective communities the provisions of this section.

H. K. Punderford, general manager of the Connecticut company, asked Mr. Craney if he could suggest any means of relieving the conditions he objected to. Mr. Craney replied that he thought a general statute forbidding the practice would be the proper method. Mr. Punderford inquired where Mr. Craney would have the trolley express business in his city shandled, to which Mr. Craney replied that all he could say was that the company was responsible for the objectionable condition and that the company should be expected to remedy it.

The afternoon ended with the serving of sandwiches, cocoa, cake, fruit and candy. The little hostess received a number of pretty presents. the company should be expected to remedy it.

The attorneys of the Connecticut company and M. J. Leary, general traffic manager, were agreeable that the conditions in Franklin square in relation to handling express was annoying and to be avoided, but that there is no way to overcome it without inconvenience to the public. It was also stated by the officials of the company that there is a measure now pending in the legislature which if passed will allow the company to extend its tracks through Shetucket street, at the foot of which the express business, it is intended, shall be handled.

While agreeing that they desired to relieve such consestion as is caused in the square by their express business, the representatives of the company voiced the opinion that a city ordinance rather than general legislation might

Some criticism was made by Attorney Robinson of section 3 of the bill, in effect that it would lay motormen and conductors liable to the penalties provided for, but Mr. Craney hastened to explain that that was not the intent of the measure, and said later that he would withdraw the bill in preference to making such employes of the company liable to personally pay fines or
